OneShot, powered by SAP Business One offers an affordable way to manage your entire business – from sales and customer relationships to financials and operations. Designed specifically for firearms and shooting industry businesses, OneShot helps you streamline processes, act on timely information, and drive profitable growth.

Businesses like yours have big goals. But it's easy to lose focus when a flood of day-to-day operational details, ad hoc requests for information, and nonstop competitive moves demand your full attention. It's also easy to lose the “big picture” when key pieces of information reside in different systems, applications, or physical locations – impeding response times while creating customer dissatisfaction. Meanwhile, disjointed sales, accounting, and operational processes can result in bottlenecks and reduce productivity.

Whether you're an independent small business or a subsidiary of a larger company, you need a clear view of all aspects of your business to stay competitive. You must streamline processes and find better ways to access the information that will result in the best business decisions. OneShot can help your organization see clearly, think clearly, and act clearly so that you can close the gap between strategy and execution and become a best-run business.
